

JAY BIDRO

RECRUITER

CONSONUS HEALTHCARE-PHARMACY

Making someone's day by extending a job offer never gets old for Jay Bidro, and he thrives on watching his hires grow within an organization. He took his first position with a staffing firm in 2007, and has been recruiting for senior care providers since 2012.

As clinical recruiter for Consonus, he's responsible for helping fulfill talent acquisition needs across multiple service lines and in dozens of locations. His goal is to identify potentially impactful prospects and match them with fulfilling opportunities, setting up both the people and the company for future success.

With strategic expertise in recruiting licensed health care professionals and an eye for spotting emerging trends in talent acquisition, Jay brings a big-picture perspective to his position. He sees the longevity of Consonus employees as a key selling point, and is able to assure candidates they'll be valued and have the tools to develop within their area of focus.

A Florida native, Jay graduated with a Bachelor's degree in Marketing from Stetson University. He and his wife have two children, and family time usually includes exploring the natural wonder of the Pacific Northwest. He also enjoys live music, reads actual books, and actively supports the charitable efforts of the Vital Life Foundation and the Timbers Army.
